AND MAIM MANY

Break Loose at a Circus
in Russia, and Panic
Ensues.

PEOPLE TRAMPLED

In the Mad Rush for Safety,
Eighty-Five Are Injured.

TOWN IS TERRORIZED

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)
St. Petersburg, Oct. 6.—Dispatches from Nijni-Novgorod state that the city of Reklim is in a state of terror owing to the fact that eight elephants in a circus came enraged and broke loose running amuck in the streets and attacking everything in sight.

CONTRACT LET

Hough Corporation Goes to Blair & Summers.

Three Buildings
The three buildings to be erected are the main shop, 52 x 250, with a dry kiln in connection 50 x 25 feet. A power house 20 x 60 feet and store house 50 x 78 feet. The work will be pushed so that the firm can place their goods on the market early in the spring.

IOWA FARMERS NEED MONEY TO BUY STOCK

Early Frosts Produce "Soft" Corn,
Which Forces the Purchase of Feeding Cattle.

New York, Oct. 6.—Reports from Iowa to banking interests here indicate that the state probably will need a large amount of money from outside sources. It appears that the corn crop has been materially damaged by early frosts, resulting in "soft" corn. This damaged grain is not suitable for the general market, and in consequence Iowa farmers will find it necessary to buy cattle in order to use it for feed.

It was shown some time ago that there was large speculation in Iowa farming lands and also lands in Dakota and northwest Canada. Iowa bankers have loaned with reasonable freedom to enable such purchases. It turns out that loans made for ninety days are expected to be indefinitely extended. When these same borrowers find it necessary to have additional funds with which to buy cattle Iowa banks will be in the position of having to ask for loans from other banking centers.

Indiana on the contrary, furnishes an entirely different situation. A prominent Indianapolis banker says the Indiana outlook is in every way satisfactory.

Hard-Working German Doctor.
Dr. Doyen, who recently returned to Paris after a trip across the Rhine, speaks in the highest terms of his German colleagues and their conscientious and successful labors. He mentions as an example the famous surgeon, Dr. Bergmann, who, although he is 60 years old, begins his day's work at 6 o'clock and keeps it up all day, his clinic where he operates before students being visited by over 200 patients every day.

A Natural Barometer.
A piece of camphor gum is a very good indicator of what the weather is going to be. If, when the camphor is exposed to the air, the gum remains dry, the weather will be fresh and dry. But if the gum absorbs the moisture and seems damp it is an indication of rain.

PORTO RICAN SLAVES
IN HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Claim They Do Not Get Enough Food and That Overseers Use the Lash on Them.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Oct. 6.—A communication from Hilo, Hawaii, signed by 500 Porto Ricans who emigrated in 1901 to work on sugar plantations, begging for relief, says they are subjected to great cruelties, do not get sufficient food, are whipped by overseers and live like beasts. When sick they are not sent to the hospital unless they pay for treatment. If they do not have the money for the hospital expenses they must go to prison for treatment, and they are kept prisoners for three months, being registered as having committed petit larceny. The signers add that complaints are useless, as the people and the authorities are indifferent to their sufferings. Mr. Detegau, the Porto Rican commissioner at Washington, will ask the American government to send a commission to Hawaii to investigate the condition of the Porto Ricans there.

Arthur W. Crawford of Beloit was in the city Sunday.

WEST VIRGINIA MINERS WORK; PENNSYLVANIA MINERS STILL OUT

Condition in Anthracite Regions Remains Quiet, Except for One Riot—Great Hope in Roosevelt Session in Washington.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Clarksburg, W. Va., Oct. 6.—Seventeen mines opened here this morning and fully four thousand men resumed work. These mines are located in the southern part of the state and were the scenes of the famous injunction proceedings. This practically ends the trouble in the Kanawha field and it is thought that inside of a week all of the mines will be in operation. The operators have practically made all the concessions demanded except the recognition of the union, agreeing however to allow the men to organize without opposition by the employers.

IN PENNSYLVANIA COAL FIELDS

Wilkesbarre, Oct. 6.—Operations were resumed at the washery at Ashley this morning. A number of imported men arrived last night and it was feared that trouble would follow the opening of the mines here this morning, but the mines opened and the union men were perfectly quiet, having been warned by the district leaders that the operators wanted trouble so that they could ask for more troops.

RIOTS AND SHOOTING OCCUR

Mt. Carmel, Oct. 6.—Early this morning a crowd of strikers attacked the Fourth regiment camp here. Rocks were hurled in great numbers into their regiment and the soldiers retaliated by opening fire in the direction from whence the missiles were thrown. It is believed that some of the strikers were injured but they were carried off by their friends and no traces left. No mines were started here this morning.

WASHINGTON PEACE TALK

Roosevelt continues to try and bring an end to the coal strike. He is enlisting the sympathy of powerful interests and it is his hope and belief that the best results can be obtained by the miners if they return to work at once. The negotiations are being conducted in secret. It is rumored that one of the men most interested in the situation is J. Pierpont Morgan. One suggestion is made that the President request Mitchell to urge his men to go back to work "for the sake of patriotism and humanity," with the understanding that the President will urge Congress to make a full investigation of the miners' claims and adopt legislation that will prevent the repetition of the present situation.

SCRANTON IS MUCH ENCOURAGED

News that Roosevelt will make another attempt to end the coal trouble has revived the hopes of the business men and miners in this locality. The men are now standing more firmly together than ever since the result of Friday's conference has become known. The situation throughout the Scranton, Wilkesbarre and Tamaqua region is practically unchanged. In the Lackawanna valley no attempt has been made to start up the collieries and the Tamaqua miners are striving every effort to avert the shipping of coal out of the region, so that the coal famine will become so acute that the general public will take affairs into their own hands. It is stated that Governor Stone is ready to call out the entire state militia. Reports from Ringtown say that an attempt was made to blow up the bridge there this morning. It has no confirmation.

A SECRET CONFERENCE IS HELD

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6.—A secret session of the American Federation of Labor is being held here today, all the chief officers being present. The coal question is the topic of discussion.

goods establishment prospered until and Wisconsin are expected in this city next Thursday for the big vocal conference.

Many Delegations Promised

surances from ten states that they would send delegations and he is now more than ever assured that the conference will accomplish the purpose it was called for.

company proposes to build here and will take bids at once from contractors.

total length of one hundred and sixty feet, about forty of which is partially detached in the form of an extension to the main building, and will be used for sorting rooms. Mr.
Campbell hopes to be able to require in the contract that the work be completed by the fifteenth of December.

CONVICTS AVOID TASK
BY SEVERING FINGERS

Desperate Plan of Chester Men to Escape Work, Which They Deemed Too Hard.

Chester, Ill., Oct. 6.—Two convicts named Reardon and Rose in the southern Illinois penitentiary here, chopped off three fingers each from their right hands in order to avoid working in the foundry, where, they say, the demands made upon them were beyond their strength.

Rose and Reardon are not robust physically, and their tasks, they declared, were entirely unsuited to their strength. They said, however, that any complaint would be punished by confinement in solitary, so they resorted to the expedient of inflicting painful wounds on themselves in order to obtain at least a temporary relief. They procured an old rusty hatchet in some manner and each deliberately chopped off three fingers on the right hand.

As soon as the men were discovered they were taken to the surgeon, who dressed their wounds, after which they were taken to the prison yard and made to stand upon a block the remainder of the day. R. J. Watson, who was a keeper over the foundry
gang, resigned rather than be a party,
he said, to such punishment.

A prison official, when asked why such punishment was inflicted on the men, replied that that was only the usual punishment inflicted on prisoners for infractions of the prison rules.

Where Gold May Abound.

Mysterious forests surround the un-mapped headwaters of the Amazon river where hidden gold mines are thought to be, guarded by a large tribe of Indians known as the Napos.
These Napo Indians have brought out significant evidence of the richness of the placer mines. In Quito gold dust is the standard currency, which they bring in hollow bamboo points heavy with grains and dust of the precious metal, which is washed out by the most primitive methods.

Women at German Universities.

The number of women students at the German universities is increasing.
At Berlin 305 have inscribed their names for this summer, as compared with 303 during the same term of last year. The number of male students is always higher during the winter in Berlin, and so it is with the women.
Last winter there were 611 of them—
the highest figure as yet attained.

STRONG ADDRESS BY JUDGE HANNA

SPEAKS TO LARGE AUDIENCE AT MYERS GRAND

ABOUT CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Pays Eloquent Tribute to Mary Baker
Eddy and Her Valuable
Text Book.

In spite of the drizzling rain which continued incessantly, a large number attended the Christian Science lecture Saturday evening. The balcony and gallery of the grand opera house were not thrown open, but the first floor was well filled with attentive listeners. Judge Hanna gave a scholarly and forceful address on the doctrines and tenets of the religion which he upholds. Literature bearing on the subject of Christian Science was distributed at the door. Charles Hemming of Rockford, with whom R. J. Whitton has formed a partnership to engage in the shoe business in that thriving Illinois city, was in Janesville, Saturday.

In opening Judge Hanna referred to the impossibility of covering the entire subject of Christian Science in his address, embracing as it does the deepest and most sacred subjects that can occupy the human mind. It treats of God's omnipotence, his omnipresence, and his omniscience, making him the one and only principle of man and of the universe. Its entire scope covers, then, God, man, and the universe.

To Unbelievers
In his lecture the speaker purposed to address primarily the members of his audience who were not Christian Scientists. Yet although he would do that he could not avoid saying some things to and for Christian Scientists as well. In dealing with any other science it would be natural to base the remarks to a greater or less degree upon some text book. In connection with the text book it would be the natural course to give some idea of the author of the text book.

Rev. Eddy's Text Book
The text book was first published in 1875 by the Rev. Mary Baker Eddy. Since that time there has been occasion to revise it, and enlarge it, until now it has reached over 251 editions of 1,000 volumes each. Its title is "Science of Health," with "Key to the Scriptures," and it contains a complete guide to the subject of Christian Science. Outside of this book Mrs. Eddy has written many articles and essays, as well as complete works, for periodicals and general circulation, but they are all in explanation of the text book.

Healing through the power of God is the general subject of the book, or it might more properly be called Mind-healing as it covers the subject of healing through the divine mind. More specifically it is a thorough exegesis of the Scriptural method of healing all diseases and curing sin, through the power and understanding of God.

Discovered the Science
Mrs. Eddy both discovered and founded Christian Science. By an accident, which would have been commonly supposed to have placed her at the door of death, she was enabled to discover for herself the fact that God had healed her of a sickness. Having learned this she was naturally eager to know more, and to be able to impart her knowledge to others.

After continued research she found the healing principle to be God, and she proved it in the healing of many other kinds of diseases. The next step in her work was to found a college where she might expound this healing system, to publish periodicals which would propagate it, and to establish a church where the gospel of healing could be preached. For these reasons it can be said that Mrs. Eddy is both the discoverer and the founder of the science.

Born Near Concord
Born among the beautiful but rugged hills of Bow, near Concord, New Hampshire, Mrs. Eddy was given by environment advantages which enabled her to nurture her inherited gifts from a long line of worthy Scotch and English ancestors. Careful training in well equipped colleges and academies under competent instructors, tended further to bring out the natural tendencies of her mind. When still a young girl she wrote poems of such merit that they were eagerly sought for by newspapers and magazines. At one time she was offered a salary of three thousand dollars, then higher remuneration than now, to become a regular contributor to the periodicals controlled by Rev. Albert Case, then editor of the Odd Fellow's Magazine.

Her Religious Character
According to the statement of the speaker, made after long personal acquaintance with Mrs. Eddy, she is without exception the most alert person intellectually he had ever seen. Her labors are incessant and unselfish for the furtherance of her cause, and her work each day is of a magnitude almost incredible. As to her religious character, he said that he believed it to be as nearly Christlike as it is possible for that of any denizen of this earth to be.

The Creeds of the Science
All who subscribe to become members of the church of Christ Scientist must subscribe to certain tenets of the "Mother Church." Among them are the promise to take the Bible as a guide, and God as Supreme and Infinite; the acknowledgement of God's forgiveness of sin and the efficacy of atonement; the universal salvation as demonstrated by Christ; and the promise to "strive, watch, and pray, for that mind to be in us which was also in Christ Jesus, to love one another, and to be meek, merciful, just and pure."

All of these tenets were propounded by Mrs. Eddy. The Rock Christ Jesus is seen to stand as the corner stone of the church, and the careful study of the precepts is recommended to every person who desires to be a Christian.

After a review of personality of Christ, and of Christian Science as a practical religion, the speaker then went on to take up the general subject of sickness. He referred to the belief that sickness is not of God as one of the leading points in Christian Science. God never created it and never sent it.

Views of Sickness
When we speak of sickness we do not merely mean physical sickness but every kind of discord, sorrow and disease. These according to Christian Science are all the result of human error, not of divine truth. In answer to the statement that God chastens that he may correct we answer, yes, but if there were no error, no sin, there would be nothing to correct, therefore there is no necessity of chastening. Man was created pure and holy, as is proved by the sinless life of Jesus Christ. He pleaded and prayed with the whole world that they should follow him with their great demonstrations, and prove for themselves the possibility of doing as he did.

Christ and Sickness
Christ came to destroy sin, sickness and death. On many instances he did destroy them. Yet as he said he came not to destroy but to fulfill the law. If sin, sickness and death were in accord with God's law, Jesus in destroying them, was not a servant but an opponent of God.

Cause and Cure of Sickness
After a general discussion of sin and sickness, with its cause arising from drunkenness, licentiousness, and other excesses, the balm in Gilead for all of these evils was taken up. God, the eternal and all-present mind, is the healer of all diseases. "Is not this a reecho of the great Nazarene's sweet appeal to the world's great family of sufferers? 'Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.'"

and by Street Number, Not Alphabetically.

It is quite important that all voters should see that their names are registered and registered correctly on tomorrow. If the voters will see to this it will save a great amount of trouble on election day, when they go to the polls to cast their ballot.

New Law Requirements.
The new registry law does away with the old system of registration. Under the new system they are registered by streets and numbers and not alphabetically. Unless the clerks know just what his house number is they cannot register him. The new law reads as follows:

The Law.
The inspectors of election in all cities of the first, second and third class shall make a register of all electors of their respective precincts, arranging the names in such manner that all electors residing on the same street are grouped and in numerical order, commencing with the lowest house number from one boundary line of such election precinct to the highest house number on the same street within the boundaries of such precincts. The printed registered lists shall have the names of the various streets displayed in heavy type over each group of electors residing on such streets within the precinct boundaries, and such streets shall be arranged in successive geographical order from east to west and north to south.

REV. W. A. GOEBEL ON THE ROSARY

SPEAKS OF ITS ORIGIN IN THE CATHOLIC CHURCH.

SOME ANCIENT TRADITIONS

The Feast of the Most Holy Rosary Is Celebrated at St. Mary's Church.

At St. Mary's church Sunday morning Father Goebel took occasion to commemorate the day, which is set apart in the church calendar in honor of the Feast of the Most Holy Rosary, by recounting some of the traditions of the development and history of that sacred ceremonial. The stories were all told quite simply but impressively, touching with high emphasis on the high regard in which the Catholics have always held the Rosary, and on its actual power as an effective form of prayer.

In the early ages, the speaker said, the people dwelling in the far east were accustomed to bestow their highest forms of honor on their distinguished personages, by decorating them with various badges of special import. Among the most notable of these was the crown of roses.

A Crown of Roses
At a later day the Christians took up the same idea, and in the church at that time, and the statue of the virgin Mary was decorated with a crown of roses. Many have brought this same custom to this country, and there are those that feel that something is lacking and inappropriate when no crown appears on the head of the statue of the virgin.

Still later Saint Gregory adopted the same custom, but in his crowning of the virgin Mary, he substituted the spiritual crown for the actual, and a crown of prayer was made to take the part of the tangible wreath of flowers. Under his tutelage the people acquired the habit of using this crown of salutations to the Holy Mother.

In Ireland
Later Saint Bridget in Ireland perfected the same custom, making it possible for everyone, however simple or untutored, to crown the virgin. In order that the suppliant might know how many salutations had been employed a number of beads of wood, stone, or metal were strung together, to keep account of the repetitions.

Saint Doherty was the next to make notable use of the Rosary. Throughout the whole Catholic world he was cherished as one of the most loved and distinguished of the saints, and for this reason he was called upon at the time of the great heresy of the Albigenses in the south of France. He made repeated efforts, using his ingenuity to bring forth arguments which would aid him in preaching to them, but all was of no avail. Finally as a last resort, he bethought him self of the Rosary.

Albigensian Heresy
By this time the heresy had reached its height, and the people of the district had fallen into its toils and their souls were being dragged to perdition. At this juncture Saint Mary appeared to him and advised him to tell the people of his custom of prayer in her honor. "Go," she said, "and teach my Rosary." He did so, preaching that alone, and the people came in such numbers that no church was large enough to accommodate them and the heresy was broken.

There are those who have a tendency to look on the ceremony with a touch of scorn. They say with a fine sarcasm, it is good enough for women and children, but it is not practical. It is little better than a superstition. Other object to the repetition. In this they are mistaken. It is in its repetition that a great share of its power lies.

Its Great Power
While the same "Hail Mary" is being repeated over and over again, the mind is naturally lead by the monotonous reiteration to think of one grand central idea. Some great thing occupies the mind and the heart, as the result of this repetition of which some persons speak with sarcasm. The great subjects of the crucifixion, the annunciation, and the assumption are brought up with renewed force while the beads are being counted one after another almost mysteriously about it. In that no man, however high, or however learned or powerful, he may be, can get any higher than the poorest and most unsophisticated. This form of prayer is meditation, and it is meditation which the great colleges and universities today teach the students to cultivate. It is the highest aspiration of all souls. And however ignorant a man may be he is capable of it.

Its Services to the Church
No matter how it may be ridiculed, the fact remains that it has done great service to the church. In the heresy of 1571, when the land was being swept in its power as by a scourge, it was the rosary which was able to stem its power. At every time since it was first introduced great rewards have come to those who have prayed it faithfully.

We are all exposed to many dangers and evils, and it is always a wise and precautionary measure to have some protection with us. A rosary, a crucifix or a medal carried in the pocket has often been known to stand in the way of great harm. The scapula is also a form of protection which cannot wisely be disregarded. Men may scoff and jeer when all is well, but in the time of trouble they turn to the rosary for protection and believe.

WITH THE ATHLETES

Twenty-eight winning games out of thirty-seven played, is the record of the Green Bay base ball team.

Rev. J. Cumming Smith, an Indianapolis clergyman won the championship medal in the golf tourney at Terra Haute.

Chicago high school foot ball teams have encountered difficulties galore in settling the eligibility of their players.

Chicago bowlers have started out the season with so many high scores that the cracks say that records will be freely smashed before the winter is over.

Bob Fitzsimmons, when he learned that Jeffries really intends to give Corbett another show for the championship, expressed himself as anxious to have another try at the big Californian.

At last, after a long and anxious period of uncertainty, Peffer, Beloit's center, returned to school in time for the game against the Chicago Dentals Saturday, and the Beloit rooters breathe more freely.

In a short time a meeting will be called of the athletic association, and plans will be made for an active year's work at Milwaukee-Downer college. Bowling will be taken up by the girls more extensively than ever before.

Oshkosh, which last year was regarded as a strong candidate for foot ball championship among the high schools of the state, has dropped the game this year. Eau Claire the last year's champions, and La Crosse have both shown fine form thus far and Madison stands well for a victorious eleven.

Since Saturday's game, in which Hyde Park High school scored on the state university, the Badgers have come in for a great amount of "roasting." The former supporters of the Madison aggregation have come out openly expressing their disappointment in last week's work. The back field especially has developed very slowly.

COULD NOT DRINK AND LET IT ALONE

Patsy Griffin Keeps the Pledge a Year, Tempted Fate and Falls by the Wayside.

Patsy Griffin, kept the pledge for a year and was so tickled over the fact, that he took one drink to show that he could take a drink and then leave it alone. But he could not and in consequence landed in the lock-up.

A year ago the fourteenth of September, Patsy took the pledge, after he had been on a series of prolonged sprees. He evidently got mixed up in his dates, as he thought his year was up October 2. A day or two before this time he was telling his friends, that his year was up October 2, and he would show them that he could take a drink and leave it alone, a man that could not take a drink and then quit was no good.

When October 2 arrived, Patsy lost no time in taking one drink, but he did not quit as he boasted he would and was soon in the hands of the police. He has promised Chief Hogan that he will sober up and take the pledge again.

Y. M. C. A. BAND MEETS TONIGHT

First Meeting of the Year is Held to Organize for Coming Season's Work.

Tonight will be held the first practice of the Y. M. C. A. band for the season of 1902-1903. A meeting was held at which officers were elected and the plans of organization perfected. No leader has been chosen as yet, and that matter will probably be disposed of this evening. Thus far no definite forecast has been made of the work to be done this winter, and the officers think it best to "lie low" and say but little until they can tell more definitely what the prospects are for the season.

Officers Elected
As the result of the election of officers, the following choices were made, F. F. Lewis was chosen president of the organization, and O. W. Bucklin, secretary; W. N. Brunson will act as treasurer, and these three officers together with G. R. Williams, L. E. Williams and F. E. Erickson will make up the board of directors.

THE REQUISITES OF A GENTLEMAN

ABLE SERMON PREACHED BY
REV. ROBERT C. DENISON

AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Members of the Congregation Welcome the Children's Choir
After Their Vacation.

Sunday morning's service at the Congregational church saw the initial appearance for the winter of the children's choir under Mrs. W. S. Jeffris' leadership. The selection given by them which was expressly pleasing to the congregation was "Rejoice Jerusalem," by Nevin.

Words of Wisdom
Rev. Robert C. Denison preached two masterly sermons yesterday. In the morning his topic was "The Value of Christ in Modern Life," and in the evening "A Christian Gentleman." At the evening service he took no Scriptural text for the interesting talk to which the audience gave close attention.

The speaker did not believe that any better compliment could be paid to a man than to call him a gentleman. If any one could choose what should be said about him after he was gone, he would not care so much to have people say he was brilliant or keen or successful if they only said he was a gentleman.

Old World Ideas
Who is the gentleman? In medieval times the old world idea of a gentleman was one who thought himself made of finer clay than other men, whose father had blue blood and whose mother was a lady. Many believe the gentleman is one who has the advantages of birth, wealth and education. It needs more than these advantages to make the true gentleman.

Usefulness Necessary
One requisite in the gentleman is usefulness. The old world idea that the gentleman must do no work has been reversed and in this new world a man cannot be a gentleman unless he works. He who has lived long in America has grown accustomed to meeting gentlemen in overalls and with picks over their shoulders. Some one has said quite truly that both in the old world and in the new there are men who do not work. In the old world they call them gentlemen and in the new they are called tramps.

The time has come when idleness is a disgrace. There is so much to be done in this world that he who does nothing is a disgrace to humanity. A man cannot be a gentleman unless somewhere and somehow he works.

Consider Other People
Thoughtfulness of other people is also absolutely essential in the gentleman. No man can be a gentleman unless he is considerate of others. The brutal or rude man can never enter into the charmed inner circle of the knight of true gentleness. A circus clown at a village county fair gave one of the finest instances of a real gentleman. A poor old woman had erected her booth and was trying to sell her cakes and cookies but she was too timid to attract attention and she had begun to despair. The clown, in passing, saw her pathetic need and understood the situation. He told his funniest stories, selling the wares while he entertained the crowd. He was just a clown but he was a gentleman. He had time to think of others, time to be kind to others.

Self Respect
Self respect is also necessary to the gentleman. The gentleman cannot have two sets of manners, one for the world and the other for his home. He cannot have two tones, one for acquaintances and friends and the other for the members of the family. Every where, under all conditions the gentleman must respect himself and others. He must keep himself so pure and upright that he is not afraid to stand in the presence of great men or to pay deference to those in the humble walks of life.

High Ideals
This standard of usefulness, thoughtfulness of others and self respect is a high ideal but is not above the reach of anyone. There is one simple rule by which one can become a gentleman and that is choosing the best within reach. There are two boys. One chooses his associates among the loafers; the other associates with refined companions. Which will be the gentleman? One young man selects coarse harmful novels for his reading. Another chooses his reading from pure literature. Which will be the gentleman? One young man gambles and smokes cigarettes on the street corners. Another works in the day time and goes to school at night. Which will be the gentleman? Anyone who chooses the best way may make a gentleman of himself.

To meet a real gentleman is like finding a cool stream in a thirsty land. One goes forward strengthened and refreshed. The courtesy, simplicity and generous thoughtfulness of the true gentleman have a refreshing influence on all who meet him.

The Christian Gentleman
The fundamental point, however, lies in the fact that a man cannot be a gentleman in manners and not be a gentleman in heart. The true gentleman is he who has the Christian principle and purity, the real Christ presence in his heart. A man cannot be made a gentleman by veneer. It is not a gentleman at heart he will not be a gentleman in manner. The only way to be a gentleman is to be a Christian gentleman with a Christian heart, hope and principles.

Spinal Curvature Dysmenorrhea.
M. C., aged 15 years, was very healthy until the summer of 1899. Her menses were established early and were regular and practically painless. About this time (1899) she began to lose strength and spirit and became languid, losing interest in school work and everything else. She would get about and do her work, but as soon as opportunity offered would lie down. Her menses became more frequent, never more than three weeks and more frequently not more than two weeks apart, and also quite painful, while she suffered almost continually with headache and backache.

In January, 1900, Mrs. Craig discovered from her walk that a curvature was developing, though it had not been noticed by the family. On November 6, 1900, conditions had grown so bad that she came for treatment. Great tenderness was found along the spine and throughout the abdomen. Attention was given to the contractures, to the curvature and to the pelvic congestion.

A rapid improvement was begun at once. The contractions and pelvic congestion were removed and the spine was partially straightened, though not entirely. It is a very difficult matter to make a complete cure in case of spinal curvature where the conditions are very marked, but in a reasonably short time they may be improved and started on the upward way, and the improvement will continue after treatment is discontinued. The tendency is cured though the curvature is not. It may be straightened, however, to a sufficient extent that the tendency to disorder in other parts resulting from it may be cured in almost all cases.

In this case the menstruation appeared at the proper intervals after the first month and there was a constant improvement with regard to pain, etc. Her spirits and strength returned and she made a rapid gain in weight (14 pounds) and a considerable growth in height as well. On March 14th, she was discharged, cured of everything except remains of curvature.

Hard on Beloit.

"Talk about your hotel experiences. I certainly had one a short time ago down in Beloit," said Frank C. Cameron, at the St. Charles, manager of one of the attractions that takes in the numerous street carnivals now being held. Beloit is one of the liveliest little towns on the map, and a better street fair than they held there lately I never saw, but we had a terrible time when night came, trying to find a place to sleep. There is no hotel there bigger than a prairie dog-house just at present, though they tell me they are going to build a fine one in the near future. When night came the strangers in town looked everywhere for a place to sleep. Some slept in tents, some on planks in the retail lumber yard, others in their booths and stands on the street, while some went out to the fair grounds and spent the night in the open air. I got tired out looking for a place to sleep and went to sleep in the doorway of one of the stores. I had been snoozing there about an hour when a copper woke me up and took me down to the city lock-up, which had been filled up with cats and blankets. It was the first time I had ever slept in jail and I have been trying to keep the matter a secret from my wife ever since."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

HUMANE SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

Interesting Reports of Good Work Done by the Society During the Past Year.

The annual meeting of the Janesville Humane Society was held at the residence of the secretary, Mrs. John Peters, No. 101 Prospect avenue, and quite a number were in attendance.

Considerable work was transacted. The secretary, Mrs. Peters, read a report of the work done by the society the past year, as well as a report of her work in collecting money, in which she was very successful. S. B. Kenyon, the agent of the society, reported that he had attended to some twenty-eight cases the past year. One of the most noticeable was that of a number of horses that were being worked on the new electric line south of the city, raw sores on their necks some six by eight inches large, flies covering the sores when the collars were taken off. Owners took them away only to put them back when he left. A second visit was made and the parties told that they would be arrested if it was continued; they were then turned out.

Cases Presented
Another case that seemed sad was that of two young girls whose father gave them no attention, (their mother being dead). They were sent to Sparta, only to be returned by the authorities there, saying that they could not have them at the school. They were placed in homes near the city, where they now are.

Treasurer's Report
E. B. Helmsstreet, treasurer, reported cash on hand after paying all expenses the past year, $51.62.

One thousand cards with the names of the officers and committees, together with the state laws regarding Humane work, were ordered printed and distributed throughout the city, also that one thousand cards similar to those used in many cities, "I am cold, please put my blanket on," be procured and distributed, with the request, when anyone saw a horse left without a blanket on cold days, they would hang on one of these cards. The following were elected to office for the ensuing year:

Officers Elected
President—W. G. Palmer.
Vice Presidents—W. T. Vankirk, J. M. Whitehead, Mrs. Elizabeth Butler.
Secretary—Mrs. E. F. Woods.
Collector—Mrs. John Peters.
Treasurer—E. B. Helmsstreet.
Agent—S. B. Kenyon.

Attorneys
The following gentlemen have donated their services as attorneys in case of prosecution by the society for violation of the law: M. G. Jeffris, Chas. E. Pierce, Wm. Smith, J. J. Cunningham.

Directors
The directors are:
First Ward—E. T. Fish, James Deniston, J. T. Wright, Mrs. Frank Field, Miss M. Chittenden, H. L. McNamara, E. W. Lowell, Mrs. Helen S. Jeffris, T. P. Burns.

Anyone may report any case to any of the directors, who will see that the proper officers are informed, and the case attended to.

SHORT NEWS NOTES

First Is a Songster. The first occupant of the city lock-up in its new quarters at the city hall, came from Belvidere. He was one of the singing kind and the occupants of the offices in the building were considerably disturbed by his vocal efforts. Chief Hogan said he was very mild along side of some of the prisoners that would be cared for up there.

Columns For Library. The round columns for the library have arrived and are at the library site ready to be placed in position as soon as the balance of the work is ready. The appearance of the front of the building will be much improved when they are in place and the roof over them is completed.

At Work On Spire. A force of carpenters are at work repairing the St. Patrick's church spire that was struck by lightning last July. A scaffolding reaching the top of the spire has been built and the men look like midgelets while at work on their lofty perch.

In Justice Court: The end has not yet been reached of the controversy between Catherine Egan, and Edward Klee, Saturday morning notice was filed with Justice Reeder appealing his decision against the defendant, and the case will be taken up for a new trial in the municipal court. In the same court the case of J. E. Anthony against Daniel Rogers was declared settled out of court.

PRESS COMMENTS.

Whitewater Register: Governor La Follette opened the campaign at Milwaukee on Tuesday night. It was an immense meeting and he and his friends have a right to consider it as a great success in the way of attendance and enthusiasm. He talked for three hours and confined himself almost entirely to a discussion of the primary law experiment and the taxation question. The best suggestion that he had to offer on the latter subject was for the fixing of a definite sum to be raised for educational purposes in lieu of the mill tax. We wish he had shortened his speech by half, for many more times people then would have read it; and that he had treated more at length the public questions of a broader character which are so immensely interesting to all people at the present time. But he may be leaving these topics wholly to the senators, who, as they have announced, do not propose to discuss purely state questions. It was a mistake that he did not pay attention to his henchman, Kronshage who told Messrs. Buckstaff and Stout that he obtained $2,000 from the book companies with La Follette's knowledge and consent for the purpose of defraying La Follette's personal expenses, the consideration being the defeat of Superintendent Harvey. This is a thing that cannot be ignored; the governor cannot afford to let the accusation of such dastardly business on his part go unanswered.

Edgerton Reporter: Governor La Follette opened the republican campaign in Milwaukee Tuesday evening with one of the great speeches he is competent to deliver. The issues were discussed at length, but with more moderation than usually characterizes his utterances. As was expected, the primary election hobby is the paramount topic and received the most attention, though other state issues received attention. That the governor has set a good lively pace is generally admitted.

Racine Journal: The governor dwelt mostly on state issues and thoroughly discussed the primary law and that of reform taxation. He now infers the leaders of the party may be consulted in the next legislature that a proper primary law be enacted and in this will go very far to unite discordant elements.

Centenary of Thomas Aird.
Steps are being taken in Dunfries to commemorate the centenary of Thomas Aird, the Scottish writer of prose and verse. Aird was a fellow student and lifelong friend of Carlyle and during his life he was intimately associated with many other notable men of letters. Among other arrangements in connection with the centenary a bust of the poet by John Hutchinson, R. S. A., will be placed in the vestibule of Dunfries Library.

Baby's Birth.

How many a woman dates a life of chronic invalidism from baby's birth. She tries "different doctors and different medicines" with little benefit. Then, fortunately her attention is called to the remarkable cures resulting from the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and she gives the medicine a trial.

Her experience is that of ninety-eight women out of every hundred who use "Favorite Prescription" for womanly ills—she is cured. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is peculiarly a mother's medicine. Its use before maternity makes the baby's advent practically painless. It gives the mother strength to nurse her child. It cures diseases peculiar to women and cures them permanently. There is no alcohol, opium, cocaine or any other narcotic in "Favorite Prescription." It is purely a vegetable preparation and cannot disagree with the weakest constitution.

Mrs. Emerson Allen, of Dorset, Ontario, Ont., writes: "I can truly say that I think Dr. Pierce's medicines the best I have ever used. I am in very poor health for a long time, dating from the birth of my little girl. I tried different doctors and different medicines. I derived very much more benefit from your medicines than from any other I have ever used. I took four bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I always keep the 'Pelllets' in the house."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper bound, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

MERGERS AND COMBINES

A great deal is being said these days about railroad mergers and combinations of various kinds, and the notion prevails to large extent that these organizations, representing large blocks of capital, are inventions of the devil, pure and simple, and that their sole object is to accumulate ill gotten gains, at the expense of the public in general, and God's patient poor in particular.

While it is doubtless true that privileges are sometimes abused, yet it is the rare exception, and not the rule. Industrial and transportation combines are organized for the protection of both capital and labor. If they are successful labor finds steady employment and at better wages than when the business is conducted at a loss.

The era of concentration of both capital and labor is upon us and many changed conditions result. Organized labor representing but a fragment of the labor of the country, dictates by arbitrary rules the number of hours that shall comprise a working day and the scale of wages to be paid. Unorganized labor adopts the day and the scale, and the labor merger accomplishes its mission.

Industrial combinations fix the price of a commodity, and competing producers adopt the same price.

The farmer is about the only artisan who has escaped the mania, and he is in a fair way to get in line.

There has recently been organized, by the farmers of the northwest, The Farmers' National Co-operation Exchange, with headquarters in Chicago.

The capital stock is $50,000,000 in shares of $10 each. The object of the organization is to eliminate middlemen and prevent ruinous competition. The argument used is that the market for cereals should be controlled by supply and demand, and never flooded by over-production. When wheat is 80 cents the price should be maintained by not flooding the market.

No one will think of criticizing the farmer in this effort to better his condition, although it is plain to be seen that he has borrowed his argument and method from the industrial and labor combine.

It is always well to remember in discussing this many sided question, that this is a free land, and privileged classes are not recognized. The man who talks the loudest about soulless corporations and wicked combines is usually the man who would go the farthest to join one, if he had an opportunity.

ROOSEVELT AND THE STRIKE

It is to be sincerely regretted that the president failed in his effort to bring about conciliation between the contending forces in the anthracite coal district. His attitude in the trying position was purely nonpartisan. He spoke for the people, claiming no right to dictate, and showing no disposition to interfere with the rights of either side.

The conference was called because of the exigencies of the case, and the motive that inspired the call was intensely humane.

Public sentiment has reached a point where the merits of the case on either side are ignored in the urgent demand for coal. The arguments used by the coal companies and by the 1,700 nonunion men for protection from assault, as well as the arguments of union labor for recognition, count for nothing on the verge of winter with no fuel in sight.

The demand going up from all parts of the country is, give us coal, and settle differences later. This demand, the president recognizes, and while he is reluctant to adopt extreme measures, it is safe to say that some radical movement will follow.

In the meantime, wise council and conservative judgment should control. The nation is confronted with a problem that is new, and extremely perplexing. Property rights, labor rights and the people's rights are involved. All of these rights are sacred, and all of them today are imperiled.

The loss to capital and labor directly interested, is not difficult to compute, and the figures are already placed at about $200,000,000, but the loss and suffering to the general public is so far reaching, that it cannot be estimated.

The rights of the people are supreme, and if it becomes necessary to adopt stringent measures, all other rights will be ignored. This will not mean a victory for either capital or labor. It will result in establishing a precedent, which both will respect, and may result in permanent good.

The right of capital to control by monopoly a necessity to the extent of withholding it from the public, and the rights of organized labor to prevent unorganized labor by violence and intimidation, the privilege of working, involve questions that have to do with the life and perpetuity of government. While the nation has granted to both the largest measure of freedom, the time may be near at hand when public sentiment may demand that both be controlled in the interests of public well-being.

THE DANGER

Some one has said, that "when the public rages, it rages blindly." The statement contains an important truth, and because of that fact the conditions that just now confront the nation, are serious in the extreme. A colored man, guilty of atrocious crime was condemned to be hung, the other day, the execution was postponed a few hours so that the public could be invited, and then to make the exhibition more tragic the death penalty was changed from hanging to burning at the stake, and thousands of people turned out to witness the tragedy.

That was an exhibition of blind public rage.

Attention is now centered on the anthracite coal fields and the day of toleration has been succeeded by a day of censure, so pronounced that the mutterings of anger and blind rage are already heard.

It is dangerous to trifle with public sentiment, in this tense and excitable condition, and no one can predict results.

In the past few years college football has become as much of a money making institution during the fall and winter months as is base ball by professional teams during the summer. Of course it is understood that a trainer and coach are necessary adjuncts to a first class team and no objections are made to them but when it comes to hiring a professional business manager who sees nothing but the money in sight in the game, the spirit of the sport is lost sight of and it becomes only a money making proposition for the benefit of the manager's pocketbook. Wisconsin University has just such a proposition facing it and in a few years more with the present regime at the head of affairs, college football might be replaced by a professional team hired simply for that purpose and making no pretense at going to school. College football is a royal sport when played by college boys but when professionalism plays a part then it is time to call a halt.

Illinois and Pennsylvania are now in the position of small monarchies with their standing armies. Illinois has forty soldiers in the field for the winter as a garrison of a town where negro riots occurred and Pennsylvania has three thousand of its citizen soldiers in the coal regions.

The wire nail industry of the country is the first to suffer from over-production and many of the factories have been obliged to shut down. Strikes and labor troubles have had much to do with these conditions. Many building projects were abandoned last spring on this account.

The fact that Secretary Shaw promised to release the reserve fund to stave off a panic and did not and the market did not fall or a panic did not follow shows that the confidence in the money being there is as good as having it.

President Roosevelt asked the operators to join with him and settle the strike question. The operators in return asked the president to send troops down there to protect the miners now at work and save the mines from ruin.

On the question of tariff reform Governor La Follette reflects the views of the majority of the western politicians. On that doctrine the governor was in accord with the party because President Roosevelt took the initiative.

The members of the Pennsylvania National Guard who are doing strike duty will be gray haired veterans before they leave their posts of duty if the miners wait for the operators to accede to their demands.

Speculators on Wall street made a raid on the Gates railway system last week and Mr. Gates cleared over a million of their money with the greatest ease and still owns the railroad.

It was a good thing that the Chicago drainage canal was in operation when those orthodox Jews poured their prayers into the Chicago river. If it had not been those prayers would still be in sight.

It appears that Secretary Shaw is the head of the treasury department and Mr. Ridgeley is not as big as some of the papers thought for. In fact he is one of "Mister" Shaw's hired men.

At last the carpenters have finished placing the railing along the bridge and now the congested travel of Milwaukee street will be enabled to move along in its even tenor until the street commissioners tear it up again.

Mayor Rose should be appointed State Game Warden. He possesses such a happy faculty of handling deputies, that in time he would become popular enough to be elected governor.

Mr. Markle, representing nonunion labor, made a strong plea for protection before the president last Friday. Mr. Markle spoke for 17,000 miners who are attempting to work.

It will not do for the police to hunt pawn shops for stolen jewelry any more now that a diamond brooch was offered in exchange for a ton of coal in New Jersey.

May Yohe has sent word to her lawyer in New York that she and "Putty" were married on the second. Lord Hope obtained his divorce on the first.

Mayor Rose is advertised to speak in Kenosha county from "Berryville to Whiskey Hill." His itinerary appears to close at the latter point.

Golf clubs seem to have been laid aside for the year and interest in the great "Hoot Mon" game has given way for the reign of King Football.

What the county needs is a late fall, an early spring, and no winter. Coal is a luxury, and the use of luxuries is extravagant.

It is rumored among the Wisconsin politicians that the veteran General Apathy is about to enter into the campaign.

There is a limit to the power of endurance, and the public has about reached the limit, on the coal question.

PRESS COMMENT.

Milwaukee Wisconsin: It's an off year in politics—and the politicians who are the furthest off are those on the democratic ticket.

La Crosse Chronicle: Mr. Buckstaff is fated to divide the honors with the youth who fired the Euphrasian dome.

La Crosse Chronicle: With the lobbyist of the Northwestern railroad openly bolting the republican ticket there is apparently no reason why the party should not gain strength with the people.

Madison Journal: The suggestion of Congressman Babcock for speaker of the house is attracting considerable attention in the east. Wisconsin would be glad to see him, or any other of her men in public life promoted. He has ability enough.

Madison Journal: Mr. Coleman of the Milwaukee Der Herald, is whooping it up for Rose and Spooner. It still smarts over the Bennett law. As the ruralist remarked who was offered ox-tail soup, "Isn't that going a good way back for a soup?"

Milwaukee News: Senator Hanna has adopted a new phrase to take the place of the frazzled cry, "Let well enough alone." Now he says, "Stand pat!" Mark evidently thinks that bob-tail fish good for any other blub but what will he do when his hand is called?

La Crosse Republican and Leader: If the governor adopts a conciliatory spirit and does not insist on antagonizing all elements in the party which have not sided with his policies in the fights of the past, the battle is already won. This is a great opportunity for La Follette. Will he improve it?

Chippewa Herald: Has Mayor Rose said one word or performed one deed that entitled him to a single republican vote? If he has, will some one kindly point out the instance? We have watched his political career quite closely, but have failed to find that he bears the least resemblance to a hero.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Somebody has discovered that the horse chestnut makes a good substitute for coal. This should prove an interesting item in the Buckeye state. And there is no doubt that if skillfully consumed in the furnace it will continue to keep off rheumatism.

Minneapolis Times: If there is a man who begrudges the old soldier his relatively small allowance that man must have in his morals something equivalent to the miasma that, when it inoculates the physical system, changes the point of view, and makes pessimistic natures naturally cheery and hopeful.

Omaha Bee: Department of Agriculture experts have figured it out that the 1902 corn crop will beat all that have gone before it and raise the top-notch record by 200,000,000. Two hundred million bushels alone would be a big output for the average corn belt state, but Nebraska this year will register close to 300,000,000 bushels. Corn is king.

St. Paul Globe: Strikes seem to have a peculiar charm for the American people, since they take such evident pains to see that they are not prevented. The only argument thus far advanced against compulsory arbitration is that it might interfere with the right to strike—and this argument has been conclusive with this enlightened people.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: The La Follette and Spooner factions in Wisconsin are said to have patched up a truce. Both Senator Spooner and Senator Quarles are to take the stump and the outlook is that Senator Spooner will succeed himself in spite of the conditions laid down in the La Follette platform. After all, Wisconsin seems to know enough to keep a good thing when it has it.

Green Bay Gazette: Some of the democratic papers have been unwise enough to begin crowding because, as they allege, the republicans are short of campaign funds. It is certain that the state democratic organization does not seem to be troubled that way. But perhaps it would be better for them if it were.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: While the republicans have differed somewhat on state policies they are a unit for the party success as a whole. The wise thing to do is to eliminate all personal feeling in the campaign. If this is done it will contribute much to the success of the republican ticket in Wisconsin this fall.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Now that the republican canvass of the state has been formally opened, the people of Wisconsin will not be left to wonder what the party can say for itself as an excuse for presenting candidates for office. From this time on there will be something doing in Wisconsin politics and David S. Rose will not be doing it all.

Milwaukee Sentinel: The particular feature of Governor La Follette's opening speech that should meet with general commendation is the entire absence of personalities. While he did not spare censure when dealing with certain classes in political circles of whom he does not approve, he refrained from aiming his reproof at individuals by dealing with the offending classes in the abstract.

Eau Claire Leader: Senator Spooner has consented to make a certain specified number of speeches during the campaign. The people of Wisconsin have a rare treat in store, for Mr. Spooner is a debater of inextinguishable resources, a master of parliamentary leadership and deeply versed in all of the leading political questions of the day. His style is brilliant, incisive and penetrating. He is a straightforward, unselfish man absolutely given up to his principles and his party.

For the first time in the history of the state, women of Wisconsin will go to the registration booths tomorrow and leave their names and addresses in order that next November they may be entitled to a voice in the future administration of school affairs. All that is required is that the woman shall reside in the precinct in which she registers and that she shall confess to being twenty-one years of age or over.

Owing to the new law, which goes into effect in Janesville for the first time this fall, all registration, both of men and women, must be made by street number instead of alphabetically as heretofore. It will therefore be wise, if not absolutely necessary for every voter, male or female to attend to registration personally. Women, especially, are urged to give this matter their thoughtful attention.

Work By Teachers
While it is safer for all voters to register personally, many women who do not find the opportunity to visit the registration booths tomorrow will nevertheless have their names on the lists. It has long been the custom for the board of education to assist the registration boards by furnishing lists of the voters and this year the board of education will be aided in its work by the school teachers, who are preparing lists of women who are eligible to vote. These names will be registered tomorrow.

Is It Legal?
The plan of having teachers attend to these lists has aroused considerable discussion and difference of opinion, some people believing that the law requires registration in person in every instance.

Need Not Be Personal
According to district attorney W. A. Jackson and several other prominent attorneys the proposed plan is perfectly legal. He says that any one may register for another person on tomorrow but on the second registration day, Tuesday, Oct. 21, registration must be by personal application or by affidavit. The difference of opinion over the subject arises from the fact that the law requires personal registration on both days in cities of the first class, such as Milwaukee. In cities of the second class and under, the registration on the first day need not be personal. As Janesville belongs to the cities of the third class, the registration lists made out by the teachers and enrolled at the booths under authority of the board of education will meet the requirements of the law absolutely.

Duty of Voters
It will be well, however, for all voters, women and men, to make sure that their names are entered on the registration lists tomorrow. Even though another opportunity to register will be given it is wise to attend to this important civic duty promptly. Registration booths will be open all day.

MURPHY LEAGUE MEETS AT Y. M. C. A.

Great Interest Was Shown in the Cause of Temperance by Those Present.

Sunday afternoon the meeting for men at the Y. M. C. A. building was given up to the Murphy League. In the absence of the President, A. E. Matheson, the chair was filled by H. Holden. After some short opening remarks by the leader, John Jones read an article dealing with the temperance cause and the meeting was then thrown open to all. Wilson Lane, Geo. West and others spoke concisely and to the point on the topic of the temperance movement in general, and the Francis Murphy phase in particular. Mr. West read to the men who were present, a letter which he had himself written telling of the work of Francis Murphy. It was full of bright pithy remarks and was received with a great deal of interest.

Show Great Interest
It is some time since one of the regular Murphy meetings has been attended as largely as that of yesterday, and probably the renewed interest was the direct result of the recent visit of the patron of the organization for whom the organization is named to this city. J. C. Kline led the singing and received instrumental assistance from F. F. Lewis.

TIE GAME PLAYED AT WHITEWATER

JANESVILLE FOOTBALL TEAM DO
GOOD WORK ON GRIDIRON.

SATURDAY'S GAME A DRAW

Both Teams Played an Excellent Game for So Early in the Season.

On Saturday the local high school team met the eleven representing the Whitewater school and after a hard fought struggle the contest was ended with a tie score of 0 to 0. The battle took place on the Whitewater grounds and the team representing that city at one time succeeded in making a touch-down. It was done on a foul however, immediately after the first kick-off and was not counted.

Closely Matched
With that one exception the local men were at no time in the game in danger of having their goal line crossed. The opposing team were fully as safe, although at the end of each half the ball was in their territory, and it remained there during a large part of the play, going no nearer the end of the field than the fifteen or twenty yard line. The honors of the game rested easily with the local backs, although the line presented a strong formation to the opposing eleven. Johnson, a former Normal player, did the star work for Whitewater.

ASSEMBLY CAUCUS HELD TO-NIGHT

Charles L. Valentine is the Choice of the District for Assembly.

Tonight is caucus night for the second assembly district of Rock county. Tuesday is convention day. There is but one candidate in the field for nomination, Charles L. Valentine. The Gazette prints below a list of the delegates for the district convention of tomorrow as chosen by Mr. Valentine himself.

It is the duty of every true republican to go to the polls tonight and vote even though there seems to be no opposition. Strange things happen at the last moment and the something might happen that Mr. Valentine's delegates would not be chosen unless all the voters turn out.

Register Tomorrow
It is also registry day tomorrow and all whose names are not on the lists should be sure and see that they are properly down and that their street number is correct. This is part of the state law that will be enforced tomorrow. Be sure and register.

Court Street
Rev. Scott Davis, financial agent of Lawrence University, occupied the pulpit at Court Street yesterday. He preached an educational sermon in the morning, which was full of practical thought and suggestions. The text, "A Three Fold Cord is Not Easily Broken," was applied to the three-fold man. The common man who toiled with his hands represented the great mass of humanity, and from the ranks of these toilers, the capitalists of industry were recruited. These two classes represent the industrial world. The third class, the scholar, was distinctive, because his time and energies were devoted to the world of art, of literature, and science, and from this class, inventive genius develops and as a result humanity is benefited. The world needs the scholar in every department of work and it needs especially the Christian scholar. While the sermon contained nothing about the school in which Dr. Davis is directly interested, it was a strong and forcible argument for a Christian college.

CARS SMASH UP AT ROCKTON, ILL.

A TRAMP, AND BRAKEMAN NICH-OLS ARE INJURED.

LOOSE CARS CAUSE TROUBLE

They Smash Into a Train Switching from a Siding Onto the Main Track.

Owing to a heavy grade which allowed a string of freight cars to gain headway on a siding near Rockton, Brakeman Nichols, and an unknown tramp lie in a precarious condition in the strong siding at Beloit and six cars are in a state of demolition on the St. Paul line near Rockton.

The accident happened last night while Conductor Horns, of this city was changing the position of some of his cars at Rockton switch. He was uninjured but his brakeman, Nichols, and an unknown tramp who was stealing a ride were hauled from the debris in an unconscious state.

How It Happened
The train had been split in two and several cars were standing on the main line with their brakes un-set while the engine and the rest of the cars were switching some empties onto a siding. The cars on the main line started by the down grade gained headway and smashed into the train coming off the siding knocking six cars from the rails and throwing them squarely across the track.

Nichols Hurt
Brakeman Nichols, who was on top of the train was thrown off and badly injured and with the tramp was hauled from the wreck and the injured men were hurried to the Strong hospital in Beloit. The tramp has not regained consciousness and no letters have been found that might identify him. The doctors have about given up hopes of his recovery. Nichols is not so badly hurt and will probably recover.

Other Cases
Judgment was given in the same court for Horatio Nelson against Mary E. Pickering for $53.45, the amount of a bill for undertaking, and the costs of the action. Both the cases of Martha A. Brownell against H. S. Sloan and of J. Monahan against the C. & N. W. R. were held open until later in the day. The action of Briggs against Kneizig was settled out of court.

Mr. Barry claims to be acting in the interests of the public. He says, however, that it will be necessary to furnish the means for the development of these coal fields, which hitherto have not been worked to any appreciable extent.

SEE PERIL IN SPRAYING TREES

Chemists Fear People May Be Poisoned by Use of Paris Green.

Washington, Oct. 6.—The Association of Official Agricultural Chemists has closed its annual meeting. It discussed reports on the injuries caused to trees and shrubs by the application of paris green and the danger of introducing arsenic into food products through spraying with paris green. These questions will be investigated by the chemical laboratory of the department of agriculture.

Opportunities for Colored Men.

President Merrill of Flak university points out that the well-educated and competent negro doctor has an amazing opportunity among the 8,000,000 of his race. President Merrill knows of twelve negro doctors in Nashville alone all doing well and six of them amassing property. He reports also that it is easier for a colored physician to build up a self-supporting practice than for the white doctor.

REVOLVER SLIPS AND KILLS

Peculiar Accident Results in the Death of a Springfield Woman.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6.—Mrs. Edward Gomes died from the effects of a bullet wound. With her dying breath she said: "It was an accident." Gomes came home late Wednesday night and placed his revolver under his pillow, he says. The weapon slipped down into the bed and when Mrs. Gomes awoke she was lying on it. In an effort to remove the pistol she accidentally discharged it.

Brigands Demand Ransom.

Salonica, Oct. 6.—Brigands have captured a Turkish land owner named Sheikh Bey at Orisar, near Voden, forty miles from Monastir. He is being held for a ransom of $15,000.

LIKELY TO ASK MINERS TO WORK

WOULD STRENGTHEN POSITION

Public Sympathy Would Go Out to the Workers Who Sacrifice Themselves in Order to Avert a Fuel Famine in the United States.

Washington, Oct. 6.—There are good reasons for the statement that President Roosevelt is contemplating an appeal to the strikers to resume work. This appeal, through President Mitchell, coming from the President of the United States and based upon the urgent needs of the general public, will, it is hoped, be promptly heeded. Mr. Mitchell, it is believed, will, through a sense of patriotic duty, advise the immediate resumption of work. Should this appeal be issued it will be made public, and will promise to the miners, through state and congressional action, a thorough investigation of the mining situation, with as full a guarantee as it is possible to give that redress will be found for all just grievances.

No further appeal is to be made to the coal operators. Their flat and final refusal to deal with President Mitchell on any terms is accepted as closing the incident so far as they are concerned.

May Operate Mines.

An extremely sensational story relating to steps by the national administration to settle the strike is afloat here, and because of the resolute refusal of all present at the conference which was held at the white house to discuss the subject the story is being accepted in some quarters. It is to the effect that President Roosevelt has advised Gov. Stone that unless the latter takes steps which will result in resumption of operations at the mines the President will declare martial law in the coal fields, take charge of the mines and operate them.

May Confer With Stone.

This action would be contrary to the legal advice of Attorney General Knox and Secretary Root, the President's chief advisers in this matter, and against the opinion of constitutional lawyers.

President Roosevelt and Gov. Stone may have a consultation within a day or two without the formality of an invitation going from the national capital to the capital of Pennsylvania. Gov. Stone is expected here to attend the G. A. R. encampment, Mrs. Stone having already arrived, and official courtesy undoubtedly will lead the governor to call at the temporary White House, where there will be an exchange of views.

Determined to End Trouble.

Should the miners return to work upon the basis of the President's appeal, it is the belief that they would thus win the sympathy of the great mass of the general public, and that the operators themselves would see the wisdom of liberal treatment and a prompt adjustment of differences. Both sides, it is known, are fearful of bloodshed in the anthracite regions if present conditions be prolonged.

President Roosevelt is more determined than ever to find a solution, and he has constantly turned to Attorney General Knox and Secretary Root for legal advice, and they have not been backward in expressing to him their firm conviction that it is now the duty of the state of Pennsylvania alone to do something to relieve the situation.

BIG FREE DELIVERY SYSTEM

Champaign's Rural Route Most Extensive in the State.

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 6.—The government has decided to lay out sixty-three new rural delivery routes of twenty-three miles each, covering 1,500 miles of Champaign county. The highway commissioners of the county are about to meet and decide upon some method of improving the roads for the routes. This will make the most general free delivery in any county in the state. The work will begin at once.

Cold in Germany.

Berlin, Oct. 6.—Unusually wintry weather prevails in Germany. Heavy snow fell in the Swabian Alps. The temperature sank in eastern Saxony to twenty degrees Fahrenheit. In the mountains of Saxony and Bohemia ten degrees Fahrenheit were registered.

Abolish Death Penalty.

Monterey, Mexico, Oct. 6.—Political crimes no longer carry the death penalty in the state of Nuevo Leon. The state congress has adopted an amendment to the constitution specifically stating that crimes of such a character shall not be punished by death.

Get Nine-Hour Day.

Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 6.—Miners in convention at Montgomery decided to accept the concessions made by the Kanawha and Hocking company. The concessions made include a nine-hour workday, two paydays a month and recognition of the union.

Same in All Languages.

Perhaps the only word that is the same in all languages is the "halloo!" In response to the telephone call. Wherever there is a telephone line the word is in use, and means just what it does in English.

Their Canadian People.

The two American states which have the largest proportionate number of Canadian-born inhabitants are Massachusetts and Michigan. The total population of these two states is the same as that of Canada.

GRAND ARMY MEN ARE GATHERING RAIN SPOILS TENT QUARTERS

Constant Downpour Is Likely to Cause Much Suffering and Illness Among the Old Guard Who of Necessity Live in Canvas Houses.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Washington is an ocean of surging, whirling humanity, the great waves which fill and overflow every street and avenue being made up of the rapidly shrinking remnant of the magnificent Grand Army of the Republic, which saved the nation's life more than a generation ago. The occasion for this great gathering is the thirty-sixth annual encampment of the G. A. R. It is true the humane Lincoln, the invincible Grant, the intrepid Sheridan, the indomitable Sherman, the brilliant Garfield, the gallant Thomas, the beloved McKinley and other leaders in the gigantic struggle have passed to their last rest, together with thousands of their followers, and although the ranks are thinned, the nation's capital resembles a huge camp, and the old army appears as numerous as ever.

Town Is Wide Open.
The capital is wide open, and the boys in blue are in absolute possession. Silk and bunting banners, for which the veterans fought so nobly, bedeck every building. Myriads of electric lights flash a hearty welcome, and, although there was a heavy downpour of rain, the ardor of the old soldiers, their families and friends is not dampened.

So constant was the downpour of rain that the bright bunting which decorates the greater number of buildings in the business part of the town is all sodden and dejected looking. Camp Roosevelt is like a bog. Those who had the courage or who were required by duty to venture to that usually beautiful park found its broad green expanse full of miniature lakes, with hundreds of little streams running into the roads and pathways. The white canvas of the tents was soaked through and the veterans who are to live in some of them during encampment week were cold and miserable.

Sickness May Result.
The camping out of the old soldiers, reminiscent of the days of forty years ago, when Washington was populated by many thousand boys in blue, was to be one of the picturesque features of the affair, but if weather conditions do not change there is bound to be disappointment in this regard. The bad weather probably will cause considerable sickness among the old fellows, who are living under the thin canvas for the first time in forty years, and even if there were no rain, October nights in Washington are pretty chilly at the best of times, and there are many people here who think that the camping out should not have been permitted.

The committees in charge of the encampment are not to blame, however. Hundreds of the Grand Army men who are here are poor and went to the bottoms of their pockets to pay railroad expenses, so the local managers had to provide lodgings for them, and it was impossible to get accommodations in hotels and houses without incurring a tremendous expense. Lodging in the tents is free.

CHLORAL INDUCES LONG SLEEP

Indian Agency Doctor Takes 300 Grains for Insomnia and Dies.
Ashland, Wis., Oct. 6.—Dr. E. S. Davidson of Lynn, Tenn., doctor for the La Pointe Indian agency of Minnesota and Wisconsin, was found dead in bed in the Athearn hotel. The inquest showed that he had apparently taken about 300 grains of chloral for insomnia, or possibly with suicidal intent. He attained a great reputation during the past two years in stamping out smallpox among the Chippewa Indians, and was well known in Tennessee, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

DETROIT READY FOR MEETING

Simple Programme for Convention of Cities Has Been Arranged.

Detroit, Oct. 6.—No new replies to the mayor's invitation to officials of other cities to be present at the convention to be held next Thursday were received. Arrangements for the meeting are in good shape, and a simple programme of exercises has been prepared. If local sentiment affects the gathering, one outcome of the meeting will be a demand for a special session of Congress. It is believed Congress is the most potent factor that can be used to end the struggle, for it is reasoned that even if that body finds it cannot act legally in the premises the mere fact that adverse legislation may be threatened will bring the operators to time quicker than anything else will.

PROVIDES FUND FOR NEW HEIR

Eugene Zimmerman Settles $250,000 on His Grandson.

Belfast, Ireland, Oct. 6.—The rejoicing at Tanderagee castle over the birth of a son and heir to the Duke of Manchester is said to have been heightened by a cable dispatch from "Grandpa" Eugene Zimmerman saying that he had settled $250,000 on the baby, the income to go to the Duchess until her son comes of age. The Duke has been mainly indebted to his mother for support up to the present time, and it has been evident from the extreme frugality displayed at Tanderagee that the young couple have been in straitened circumstances.

GREAT CROWD AT ZOLA'S FUNERAL

CAPT. DREYFUS IN THE CORTEGE

Man for Whom the Great French Author Suffered So Much Attracts Little Attention as He Pays His Last Tribute to a Friend.

Paris, Oct. 6.—The funeral procession that accompanied the remains of M. Zola to the grave traversed the streets of the city from Rue de Bruxelles to Montmartre cemetery without a discordant incident, although 60,000 mourners followed the body and a great multitude of people gathered along the route.

The earnest conviction and quiet dignity of the 60,000 men, women and children wearing red eagletines in their buttonholes, who took part in the funeral on a soft, gray, sunless and typical Parisian day, made it the most impressive ceremony of the kind witnessed here since the burial of Victor Hugo. It was an honest, spontaneous manifestation of the principles of the rights of man as established by the revolution of 1793.

Bear Appropriate Mottoes.
Nearly all the scarlet wreaths borne by the delegates from the different wards of Paris and other cities and towns were inscribed with the words, "The Rights of Man," usually coupled with other mottoes, such as, "To the Defender of Humanity," "To the Great Citizen," "To the Author of I Accuse," "To the Author of Germinal."

Former Capt. Dreyfus marched in the funeral cortege, but he passed completely unnoticed by the crowd. A little distance behind him came Mme. Dreyfus, accompanied by her father. Dreyfus induced Mme. Zola to give him back his promise not to attend the funeral.

Wreaths Hide Coffin.
The front of M. Zola's house was draped with black cloth, decorated with silver stars. The entrance hall had been transformed into a mortuary chapel, in which the coffin, hidden beneath wreaths, rested.

The procession formed at 1 o'clock. The funeral car was covered with draperies decorated with silver stars and bearing M. Zola's initials. The pallbearers were MM. Octave Mirbeau, Brunau, Charpentier, Fosqueille and Drent, the latter being secretary of the labor bureau. The principal mourners were Albert Laborde, who represented the family, and MM. Georges Lohseau, Desmoulins and Duret, and Dr. Larat.

Mme. Zola Is Feeble.
The government accorded military honors to the dead novelist, they being rendered by the Twenty-eighth infantry regiment. M. Zola was an officer of the Legion of Honor and was entitled to this mark of respect.

Mme. Zola, who nearly lost her life at the time her husband was accidentally asphyxiated, occupied the first carriage. She looked pale and feeble.

Among the masses of spectators which lined the route there were probably many who were not admirers of Zola, but everybody uncovered as the hearse passed. The cortege entered the cemetery and followed the avenue through the tombs to the cross roads, where a small platform had been erected for the funeral orators.

Tribute to the Author.
M. Chaumle was the first speaker. He said the government was in honor bound to participate in the funeral of one of the highest literary glories of France, whose death had cast the country into mourning. Zola's life work had been dominated by anxiety for sincerity and truth, said the speaker, an anxiety inspired by his great feelings of pity and justice.

Alluding to Zola's part in the Dreyfus affair, M. Chaumle said that whenever a cause appeared to him as a just one he regarded it his imperative duty to defend it, although he had to brave unreasonable anger, suffer furious insults and unjust hatred, and most painful abandonments for so doing.

Compared to Tolstoi.
M. Herman, on behalf of the societies of authors and dramatists, then gave an eloquent review of Zola's labors.

The final oration was delivered by Anatole France, one of the most ardent champions of the revision of the Dreyfus case. M. France said that Zola's work could be compared only to that of Tolstoi, but that Tolstoi had built up a city of resignation, whereas the ideal of Zola had been work.
